We Go Together.℠

Originally conceived as part of the way for Timberwolves owners Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson to make an important contribution back to the Upper Midwest, Target Center, with a basketball capacity of 19,006, has fulfilled that ambition while also becoming the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district.
In addition to serving as the home court for the Timberwolves, Target Center plays host to a diverse group of sports and entertainment events. Included among the wide range of events that played Target Center in its inaugural season are: Billy Joel, Sesame Street Live, World Wrestling Federation, Walt Disney's World on Ice, the Harlem Globetrotters, Ice Capades, the Moscow Circus, First Banks American Cup Tennis and the United States National Figure Skating Championships. The NCAA Women's Basketball Final Four will come to Target Center in 1995.
Target Center events take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility features a world-class health club, a full service restaurant, $1.50 event parking in garages across the street, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and the highest restroom-to-patron ratio in the industry. The building also offers excellent sightlines, handicapped accessibility and comfortable, theater-style seats.

o The first major arena in the country designated completely 'no smoking.'

o Located in the heart of downtown, only two blocks from the center of the thriving Minneapolis business district.

o More than 11,000 parking spaces surround Target Center within a three block radius.

o The lobby occupies 11,000 square feet and can accomodate approximately 2,000 people.

o There are 15 ticket windows to ensure prompt service.

o The lobby ceiling is a gigantic neon sculpture with intricate and spontaneous patterns continually changing.

o 19,006 theater-style cushioned seats provide the viewer with maximum comfort; for center-staged events, there is seating capacity for more than 20,000. Each seat has approximately one to two more inches of hip and leg room than traditional arena seats.

o More restroom accomodations than any other arena in the country. Target Center averages one unit for every 45 customers, with 60 percent of the restroom facilities designated for women; most arenas average one unit for every 172 customers.

o There are 114 wheelchair locations in the upper and lower levels. Amplified listening devices to assist the hearing-impaired are available by calling the Target Center box office in advance. A Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) phone number to box office has been designated, and coin-operated telephones with amplified listening devices are positioned throughout the arena. Special printed programs will be transcribed in Braille for several sporting and entertainment events.

o The arena has the only movable floor in the country which includes ice-making capabilities. The floor can be raised or lowered five feet in 25 minutes to ensure excellent viewing and tailored sightlines for each event.

o A special 12-ft. by 16-ft. four-sided, center-hung, color video display provides the viewer a high resolution, close-up view of the event - and replays - from any seat in the house.

o The Arena Health Club at Target Center is the 13th in the chain of Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs located throughout the Twin Cities. The club is approximately 160,000 square feet.

The Way We See It, Minnesotans Win Every Time The Timberwolves Play At Home.

To us, the most interesting stats surrounding tonight's game won't appear on the scoreboard.

They're not even about basketball. They're about smoking.

Polls show that more than 80% of all Minnesotans believe second-hand smoke harms them. Even 68% of the smokers agree. So you see, your fellow fans really do thank you for not smoking.

The Timberwolves' smoke-free policy encourages more smokers to quit. And every one who does will save the health care system, on average, $100,000 in medical expenses.

The stats prove it. When we say the Timberwolves' smoke-free home is healthy for everyone, we're not just blowing smoke.

HARVEY Ratner MARV Wolfenson

After realizing their goal of giving something significant to the Upper Midwest with the acquisition of the Timberwolves and the opening of Target Center, Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson have begun concentrating their efforts on putting together a championship caliber basketball team.

The overwhelming success enjoyed by the Timberwolves during their first two seasons came as no surprise to anyone who has followed the pair's business dealings. Over a 40-year association, Ratner and Wolfenson have been synonomous with success in the Twin Cities.

In 1963 they launched what have become 13 racquet and excercise facilities. The health clubs, known as Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs, average 170,000 square feet and have grown to an active membership of over 110,000 with approximately 1,000 employees. They are the most successful facilities of their type in the country.

The pair have also developed the largest family-owned apartment group in the Upper Midwest. Approximately 3,000 apartment units have been built and operated by Ratner and Wolfenson.

The style of Ratner and Wolfenson is to be actively involved in all of their ventures, while relying on and supporting key staff members. That support is evidenced by the fact that many employees have worked for them throughout their adult lives. Ratner and Wolfenson have been friends since childhood. Loyalty is important to each, who have been equal partners in every business venture they began since 1952. They have never undertaken an unsuccessful project.

Although they prefer to avoid personal recognition, they contribute to many Twin Cities charities. They support the Crisis Nursery Center, Groves Learning Center, Minneapolis Children's Medical Center, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, The United Way and the Minneapolis Federation. As supporters of the arts, Ratner and Wolfenson donated the building of the Mixed Blood Theatre and contribute to the Walker Art Center, Minnesota Orchestra, Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Fine Arts department of the University of Minnesota. They have also sponsored the men's and women's tennis teams at the University of Minnesota and provide the Northwest Racquet Clubs as the teams' home court facilities.

Harvey and Barbara Ratner have four children - Mark, Edward, David and Rachel. Marv and Sandy Wolfenson have three children - Ellyn Stein, Ernie and David.

BOB Stein

President

After playing a key role in bringing the NBA back to Minnesota following a 29-year absence, Bob Stein enters his third season heading the club's front office. As president, Stein handles a wide range of responsibilities. He handles contract negotiations, collaborates with Jimmy Rodgers and Jim Brewer in player personnel decisions and is also responsible for the day-to-day operation of the club. Stein, who finished tied for fourth in The Sporting News balloting for the 1990 NBA Executive of the Year, is President of Target Center and of the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation.

Stein has long been associated with the Minnesota sports scene, dating back to his days as a standout football player at the University of Minnesota. He was an All-American and Academic All-American defensive end selection in 1967 and 1968 as well as being an All-Big Ten pick in 1966, 1967 and 1968. He was also a three-time member of the Big Ten All-Academic squad while earning a bachelor's degree in Political Science.

After graduating in 1969, Stein continued both his football and academic work. He was drafted in 1969 by the Kansas City Chiefs and remains the youngest man (21) to play in a Super Bowl after helping the Chiefs defeat the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IV. He played eight NFL seasons. While a member of the Chiefs, Stein attended the University of Missouri Law School on a full-time basis, graduating in the top 10 percent of his class in 1973. He began practicing law in 1974, while playing in the NFL. His law practice went full-time in 1976 upon his retirement from football. During his legal career, much of Stein's practice was in the professional sports area, where he represented dozens of top professional athletes.

Stein remains active in many civic and charitable organizations in the Twin Cities area and has volunteered many years of service to University of Minnesota projects. Stein and his wife, Ellyn, have four children - Lauren, Brooke, Carly and Ben. They make their home in Edina, Minn.

JIMMY Rodgers

Head Coach

A new chapter was added in the young history of the Minnesota Timberwolves on June 19, 1991 when Jimmy Rodgers became the Timberwolves head coach.

Rodgers came to the Timberwolves after spending ten years with the NBA's Boston Celtics helping lead the club to three NBA titles, five Eastern Conference championships and seven Atlantic Division crowns while qualifying for the playoffs in each of those ten seasons. During his ten-year association with the club, the Celtics compiled a 583-237 (.711) regular season record and an 88-58 (.603) playoff mark.

The Iowa native spent two seasons as the head coach in Boston. He was named Celtics head coach on May 3, 1988 when he replaced K.C. Jones upon the conclusion of the 1987-88 campaign. In his two seasons as head coach (1988-89, 1989-90), he compiled a 94-70 (.634) record. Rodgers originally joined the Celtics in 1980 under head coach Bill Fitch. Upon Fitch's departure from Boston in 1983, Rodgers assisted Jones for the next five seasons while doubling as Director of Player Personnel from 1984-88. Prior to joining the Celtics' organization, Rodgers spent nine seasons, 1971-79, as a member of the Cleveland Cavaliers coaching and scouting staff. For the 1979-80 season, Rodgers was promoted to the position of Director of Player Personnel.

A graduate of the University of Iowa in 1965, Rodgers was a three-year starter for the Hawkeyes. He began his coaching career as the assistant to Fitch at the University of North Dakota. When Fitch left North Dakota in 1967, Rodgers assumed the head coaching duties and compiled a 39-33 record over the next three seasons. In 1970, he spent one season as an assistant coach at the University of Arkansas. The following year he was reunited with Fitch, again as his assistant and chief scout with the newly-formed Cavaliers.

Rodgers was born on March 12, 1943 in Franklin Park, Illinois. He and his wife Donna have two sons. Their oldest son, Tim, is a graduate of Tufts (Mass.) University while their youngest son, Matt, is a senior at the University of Iowa where he is the football team's starting quarterback. Jimmy and Donna make their home in Edina, Minn.

Brewer joined the Timberwolves scouting staff on a full-time basis in November of 1989 as a scout before taking over the player personnel duties last December. Prior to joining the Timberwolves, Brewer, 38, spent the previous three-plus years as an assistant basketball coach and recruiter at Northwestern University.

Minnesota also picked up forward Bob Thornton in a trade with Philadelphia.

DECEMBER (3-9, 8-19): Although the Timberwolves only managed to win three of 12 December games, they closed out 1990 with an offensive bang, snapping a seven-game losing streak with a 126-106 win at the Target Center over Seattle. The 126 points were the most ever scored by Minnesota, and the Timberwolves had won 14 straight games at home when they scored over 100 points. Forward Sam Mitchell was the leading scorer in that win over Seattle with a career-high 26 points. Mitchell also played a key role in an 84-82 win over the Pacers on Dec. 4, sinking a pair of free throws in the final second of the game. Minnesota's five road losses during the month increased its winless streak away from home to eight. Rookie center Felton Spencer and rookie guard Gerald Glass both showed promise during the month. Spencer, who started in all but one game in December, closed the month leading the club in rebounding (7.9 rpg) and blocked shots (36). Glass finished up averaging 9.2 ppg. Forwards Tod Murphy (back spasms) and Bob Thornton (broken wrist) both missed considerable action, so free agent Dan Godfread was signed on Dec. 29.

JANUARY (6-8, 14-27): Loosening the reins on the offensive end, Coach Bill Musselman did away with his playbook in January and introduced an "early offense," and that helped the Timberwolves top the 100-point plateau a club-record eight straight times, as they raised their scoring average from 93.0 to 105.3 ppg. In doing so, Minnesota posted its best monthly mark this season, winning six of 14 games. The highlight of the month was a three-game road winning streak (the club's first multiple-game winning skein away from home) with victories over Orlando, Miami and

New York. Second-year guard Pooh Richardson paced the Wolves in scoring (22.1 ppg), assists (10.4 apg) and steals (2.86 spg) during the month, while rookie center Felton Spencer was the leader in rebounding (9.5 rpg) and FG shooting (61.8% from the field). January ended with the return of starting forward Tod Murphy, who had been sidelined for 29 games with a back injury. Guard Tony Campbell was forced to miss the final five games of the month with a sprained ankle.

FEBRUARY (4-10, 18-37): The Timberwolves were stuck in a mid-February losing streak, losing eight of nine games, and that played a large part in the team's 10 losses in 14 contests during the month. February did begin on a positive note, as probably the three most exciting games of the season for the Timberwolves were played during that stretch. It started on Feb. 2 with a 113-110 overtime road loss at Cleveland, followed by a 110-102 double-overtime home win over Philadelphia the next night, as Minnesota scored 12 of the game's final 14 points to notch the victory. Finally, on Feb. 5, a Sam Mitchell jumper with 11 seconds left in the game lifted the host Timberwolves to a 94-93 triumph over Utah, the club's first-ever win over the Jazz. Minnesota also continued its success against Dallas, beating the Mavericks for the fifth straight time on Feb. 26, 100-94. Rookie center Felton Spencer reclaimed his starting spot with four double-figure rebounding efforts in the last six games of the month.

MARCH (4-11, 22-48): Although the Timberwolves closed out March on a down note, losing six of their final seven games to finish with 11 losses, there were some significant wins that took place during the month. The biggest win in March for Minnesota came on the 5th, when the Timberwolves downed the LA Lakers 94-85 at the Target Center, picking up their first victory ever over the Lakers. The other notable triumph for Minnesota came on Mar. 15, when they overcame a 20-point second-half deficit to post an exciting 100-96 overtime win over the Super sonics at the Seattle Coliseum. As the month came to a close the Timberwolves had beaten 23 of the NBA's 26 other teams — they're still looking for their first win against Chicago, Milwaukee and Phoenix. Guard Tony Campbell led Minnesota in scoring in eight of the month's last 10 games, averaging 26.2 ppg over that span.

April (7-5, 29-53): The Timberwolves closed out the 1990-91 season by posting the best monthly record in their two-year existence. By winning six of their final eight games, the Wolves finished the year with 29 victories, seven more than in their inaugural season. They were close to finishing the season with an eight-game winning streak, as the only two losses in that stretch (a 111-110 double-overtime loss at Charlotte and a 102-100 setback at Dallas) were by a combined total of three points. Minnesota's 134-122 victory over Denver at Target Center on April 4 established a new club record for most points in a game. Tony Campbell finished the season strong, averaging 23.3 ppg in April, to pick up Offensive Player of the Year honors. Other post-season awards went to Sam Mitchell (Defensive Player of the Year), Tyrone Corbin (Key Man Award), Pooh Richardson (Fan's Choice), and Scott Brooks (Community Service Award).

NOVEMBER (3-12): November featured many firsts for the expansion Timberwolves. Coach Bill Musselman's team made its NBA debut on Nov. 3 at Seattle, a 106-94 loss; played their first home game in the Metrodome on Nov. 8, a 96-84 loss to the Bulls; and registered their first win on Nov. 10, a 125-118 overtime decision against the 76ers. The Wolves averaged 24,828 fans in their first seven home games, putting them on pace to break the expansion attendance record established by Charlotte in 1988-89. In the win over Philadelphia, guard Tony Campbell and forward Tyrone Corbin both hit for career highs in points, with 38 and 36, respectively. Minnesota registed its second win, 101-98 over Golden State, on Nov. 14. Sam Mitchell (25 points) and Scott Roth (22 points) gave the Minnesota offense a lift in that victory. Campbell led the club with a 24.4 ppg average, and scored 31 points to lead the way to a 105-100 win over Miami on Nov. 29.

DECEMBER (3-11, 6-23): The month of December opened on a high note for the Timberwolves with a 27-point victory at Cleveland and a home court win over New Jersey. But just as quickly, the team's fortunes took a turn in the opposite direction. Minnesota dropped a club-record nine consecutive games, including two heartbreaking overtime losses to division front runners Indiana and the Lakers. The streak ended when the Wolves turned in one of their finest performances of the season in beating Houston, 108-91. Through 29 games, the Timberwolves allowed their opponents to score 100 or more points just 16 times and had a defensive average of 101.5 points allowed per game, which ranked fifth in the NBA. The Wolves' NBA-leading home attendanceaverage of 24,024 in 15 games kept the franchise on pace to break the expansion attendance record of 23,172 per game set a year earlier by Charlotte. Tony Campbell was Minnesota's leading scorer, averaging 23.3 ppg. Rookie Sam Mitchell was second on the club in scoring with 17.3 ppg average. Forwaard Tyrone Corbin paced the Wolves in rebounding, averaging 7.1 per contest.

JANUARY (3-10, 9-33): The Timberwolves' record for the month was not entirely indicative of the way that Bill Musselman's club played. Minnesota was very competitive, losing four games by two points or less, and six by 10 points or less. January did end on a high note as the Timberwolves won back-to-back games at the Metrodome, downing Sacramento 109-91 and Seattle, 110-82. Guard Tony Campbell continued his consistent play for the Wolves, leading the club in scoring 10 out of 13 games and averaging a team-high 23.6 ppg. Another positive story in the backcourt was the emergence of rookie Pooh Richardson, who moved into the starting lineup against the Kings and scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists to lead the Wolves to victory. Two nights later, during the win over Seattle, Richardson picked up a career-high 12 assists. Tyrone Corbin and Sam Mitchell were the Wolves' main forces off the boards, averaging 6.8 and 6.5, respectively.

FEBRUARY (6-7, 15-40): The expansion Timberwolves turned in their finest month of the season by posting a mark only one game under .500. The highlight of the month was a stirring 116-105 victory over the Celtics on February 2, a game played before a franchise-reocrd 35,713 fans at the Metrodome and televised nationally on TNT. The Wolves put together a club-record winning streak of four games, with home wins over Charlotte, Indiana, Atlanta and Houston. The Wolves' seven losses were by an average of 7.6 points, including a heartbreaking 110-104 overtime road loss at Utah and a last-second 95-93 defeat at New Jersey. Guard Tony Campbell continued his impressive play, averaging 23.2 points, 3.2 assists and 6.4 rebounds in 13 February games.

MARCH (5-12, 20-52): Heading into the final three weeks of the regular season, the Timberwolves sported the most wins among the four expansion teams. One of Minnesota's big moments in March came on the 17th when the Wolves played before 43,606 fans at the Metrodome in a thrilling 101-98 loss to the Lakers. That represented the top crowd of the season in the NBA to date and was the eighth-largest of all-time. The Timberwolves also registered a pair of road victories during the month, a 110-105 win at Portland on March 25, which snapped the club's 22-game road losing streak, and 84-82 over the Mavericks. Guard Tony Campbell, who scored in double figures in each of the Wolves' first 72 games, averaged 23.1 ppg during the month to lead the team. Also chipping in were forward Tyrone Corbin, with 15.8 ppg and 7.8 rpg, and rookie guard Pooh Richardson with 17.0 ppg and 8 apg.

APRIL (2-8, 22-60): The Timberwolves began the final month of their first year with one of their biggest wins of the season, a 92-90 upset of the eventual Midwest Division champion Spurs at San Antonio. Tony Campbell led the upset with 27 points. Later in the month, Minnesota won its 22nd game of the season as they downed Orlando, 117-102, before 45,458 fans at the Metrodome. After going 2-8 in April, Minnesota ended the season with a 22-60 moark, the best record among the NBA's four newest teams. The Wolves averaged 45,141 fans per game in their final three home contests to wrap up the NBA attendance title and become the league's all-time single-season attendance leaders with a total of 1,072,572. Minnesota ended the season second in the NBA in team defense, allowing just 99.4 points per game. Tony Campbell was named the team's Most Valuable Player, with Tod Murphy earning Defensive Player of the Year honors.

NBA SALARY CAP
The salary cap that will apply to NBA teams for the 1991-92 season will be $12,500,000, an increase of approximately $629,000 over last season's cap of $11,871,000.

In addition, in order to ensure that the NBA players receive 53 percent of league revenues, the minimum team salary that teams will be required to spend will be raised to $10,120,000 up from last year's $9,610,000.

The determination of the salary cap and minimum team salaries are made each July 31 on the basis of formulas set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the league and the Players Association.

For the most recent expansion franchises, Minnesota and Orlando the cap will be the same as the other 25 NBA teams.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record regardless of division. The first round is best-of-5 and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-7.

In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matchups, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First-Round are Team 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Team 1-8 plays the winner of Team 4-5 and the winner of Team 2-7 plays the winner of Team 3-6.

CHICAGO BULLS®

The Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June of 1983 in a vote by the NBA Board of Governors effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowance for 16 teams qualifying for the playoffs and the elimination of the first round bye (formerly known as the best-of-3 mini-series) for division and inclusion of the First Round best-of-5 series.

LOS ANGELES LAKERS

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

GENERAL

The Timberwolves believe that it is an obligation to become an important asset for the community they represent. The team places a major commitment to community and charitable activities in the Twin Cities area, as well as the entire Upper Midwest region. The Manager of the Timberwolves Community Relations Department is Bill McMoore (673-1634).
The following is a closer look at some programs the Community Relations Department has been involved with:

HOSPITAL VISITS

The Timberwolves make a concerted effort to visit patients at local hospitals, on both a team and individual basis. During the holiday season, the Timberwolves team and front office staff, Nestle' Crunch and other patrons sponsor the annual Children's Hospital Tour.

NBA SCHOLARSHIPS

Every spring, the Timberwolves and the NBA award two $1,000 college scholarships to high school seniors living within a 75-mile radius of the Twin Cities.

TIX FOR KIDS

Season ticket holders donate unused tickets back to the Timberwolves, who in turn distribute them to youth charities and organizations. This enables children who would not otherwise have the opportunity a chance to attend a Timberwolves game. In the first two seasons, over 13,000 tickets were donated in the Tickets For Kids program.

TARGET COMMUNITY SECTION

This section consists of a block of 50 seats that the Minnesota Timberwolves Foudation purchases for every game to distribute to worthy youth groups and organizations throughout Minnesota.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Timberwolves provide members of the front office staff, and the Timberwolves players as speakers for various functions, community groups and charitable organizations.

MINORITY INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

The Timberwolves have established an on-the-job training and educational experience for minority college students who are in their junior or senior year. The long range goal is to encourage and promote Sports Management Education for these students while simultaneously exposing them to valuable experience and responsibilities.

HIGH SCHOOL WORK PROGRAM

Each school year the Timberwolves work with the Minneapolis Public Schools' Cooperative Education program bringing in two students to utilize the Timberwolves office as a classroom. Students attend school daily then work at their assigned locations during the afternoons. Students receive school credit for their job performance and are also paid the prevailing rate.

RINGTHEBELL on Archive.org

Heading the Community Relations effort is the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, a 501 (c)(3) public charity. The Foundation supports charitable programs which positively impact our inner-city youth in such areas as family, education, drug awareness, health, race relations, and employment.

The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to inner-city youth. In the upcoming years the organization as a whole will concentrate its efforts on providing opportunities for Twin City inner-city youth. The Foundation and Community Relations departments will have the task of developing programs and working with existing organizations to ensure that young people in our community have every possible chance to make good, sound decisions which will positively affect their lives.

Following is a closer look at some of the Foundation programs in place for the 1991-92 season.

MAKE-A-WISH

Over the past year the Timberwolves have become increasingly more involved with Make-A-Wish. In addition to granting wishes for terminally ill patients to visit their favorite NBA player, Tyrone Corbin was a celebrity co-chair for the Annual Make-A-Wish Golf Tournament which generated over $80,000.

MINNESOTA SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The Minnesota Timberwolves have been and will continue to be supporters of the Minnesota Special Olympics. Proceeds from the Timberwolves Hoop Festival 3-on-3 basketball tournament, held at Lincoln Center, generated an excess of $20,000 which went directly to Minnesota Special Olympics.

NIGHT MOVES

Night Moves is a summer midnight basketball league which began in St. Paul in 1990. The program was so successful that it was expanded in 1991 to include Minneapolis. In addition to the basketball component, weekly workshops and clinics on chemical health, career readiness, college/vocational prep and a session on the music industry were added. The program afforded over 600 young men and women an opportunity to participate in positive activities.

BOYS IN THE HOOD SUMMER BB LEAGUE

In addition to the many basketball programs which the Timberwolves Foundation support, a new league was formed and designed specifically for young men who are involved in gang activity. The success of the league was tremendous. Over 100 young men participated and between 500-600 community people who often fear these same people came out three nights a week to support them and their efforts to become involved in positive competition. With financial support from the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, an outdoor court behind The City, Inc.'s northside offices has been repaved, new backboards and rims purchased and jerseys purchased.

It is believed that this is the first time a professional sports team has taken an active role in working with youth gangs. Of course the Timberwolves do not condone negative gang activity. The organization does, however, promote and encourage young persons from all walks of life to become involved in positive activities.

COURAGE CENTER

The Courage Center promotes independence, self-esteem, and dignity for people with physical or sensory disabilities. The Timberwolves are supporting and outfitting the men's and women's "A" basketball team The Rolling Timberwolves.

PROJECT REBOUND

This program is aimed at inner-city 7th and 8th graders who have been identified as having attendance and truancy problems. The program has been expanded to include 3 schools in St. Paul and 3 in Minneapolis. Curriculum has been developed specifically for this program and includes self-esteem building, study skills, mentoring, and motivation, as well as all of the other necessary components needed to ensure that these at-risk young people have every possible opportunity to succeed not only in school but in life. In addition to the financial and developmental commitment, Timberwolves players are involved extensively in the program.

BASKETBALL CAMPS AND CLINICS

The Timberwolves Foundation increased the scholarship award from 15 to over 95. Young men and women from the Twin Cities metro-area inner city were able to attend our week-long camps free of charge. In addition, 4 free clinics were held in both Minneapolis and St. Paul.

1991-92 MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES FOUNDATION BOARD MEMBERS

KSTP-TV, Hubbard Broadcasting's ABC affiliate, will carry eight games, while FOX 29 KITN-TV, owned by Nationwide, Inc., will air 17 contests. TIMBERWOLVES CORPORATE PARTNERS

A major reflection of the corporate philosophy of the Timberwolves team and Target Center is found in their approach to their corporate partner programs. It is consistent with the approach taken by a number of industry leaders in many of its aspects, in others it is more aggressive than that of any other sports entertainment facility or team. The approach utilizes programs which are inclusive and integrate all the elements which the team and Target Center can offer to promote the products and services of its corporate partners. From television, radio, signage, publications and client entertainment to retail promotions, trade incentives and participation in the charitable/ccommunity service projects, corporate partner programs provide an unusually integrated and impactful association. There is a relatively small number of corporations involved in these programs, founded on the principle that they should have a positive impact on the corporate partners bottom line.

The Timberwolves have formed exclusive corporate partnerships with the following organizations:

Automated Communications, Inc.

American Dairy Association of Minnesota
